DIAMOND SKINCARE

Anne Jensen

For almost a century, France has been at the forefront of skincare and skincare ingredients.

With an eye on the future, Anne Jensen chose France to develop the future of skincare.

In all Anne Jensen skincare products, you will find ingredients carefully sourced and processed with French expertise.

Naturally grown

Natural grown is sustainably grown at every stage, traditionally cultivated methods respect the natural plants in the process and produce ingredients of the highest quality based on techniques used for generations.

Anne Jensen Diamond Skincare is between 84% to 100% natural ingredients.

Anne Jensen Diamond Skincare is a pure beauty range based on on aqua marine botanical ingredients that soothe the skin and natural botanicals that help improve the skin.

Sustainable

If we really want the sustainable line, then it's all about the finest ingredients for the skincare itself and the most recyclable materials for the packaging.

And for skincare that is made from the finest ingredients, glass packaging is preferable as it can be recycled.

The purer the ingredients used in skincare are, the harder it is to use plastic material packaging, as they often end up going rancid.

The packaging is recyclable.

How they should be sorted depends on your country's way of recycling.

Testing

Anne Jensen Diamond Skincare has documented test results on the products.
